

Evoked Pharma (EVOK - $ 5.03)

1Q16: METO IN-003 Top-Line Results Are Just Months Away and Are Expected in Early 3Q16

Yesterday after the market closed, EVOK reported 1Q16 financial results with a net loss of ($3.2MM), vs. the estimates of Laidlaw ($2.8MM) and the Street ($2.9MM). Net loss per share was ($0.45) vs. ($0.39) for both Laidlaw and the Street. EVOK ended 1Q16 with ~$6.1MM cash and we believe this could support the company to report pivotal trial results and potentially complete some filing activities.

- METO IN-003 study top-line results are the ONLY investor focus. EVOK reiterated that it is on track to report top-line results from its Phase III (METO IN-003) trial of EVK-001 (a nasal delivery formulation of metoclopramide) in women with diabetic gastroparesis in early 3Q16 (we estimate in July and possibly early August). Should the data be positive, EVOK would request a pre-NDA meeting shortly thereafter prior to 505(b)(2) filing, which could occur in late 2H16 or early 1Q17, in our estimate. EVK-001 could potentially reach market in late 2017 or 2018.
- EVK-001 commercial outlook could be favorable. If METO IN-003 study results are positive and EVK-001 receives approval, we believe the commercial outlook of the drug is very promising, mainly due to the modest competitive landscape in diabetic gastroparesis treatment. EVK-001 remains clinically the most advanced product in development while several others may have dropped out from the scene. For example, Ironwood recently terminated IW-9179 (a guanylate cyclase-C agonist) development following a disappointing Phase IIa study; and the lack of progress of GSK962040 (selective motilin receptor agonist) after GSK completed a Phase II trial. Further, given oral-metoclopramide's shortcomings in treating gastroparesis and the lack of promotion as a generic drug, EVK-001, if approved, could potentially be used for oral-metoclopramide inadequately treated or even as a first-line treatment for some patients. As such, EVK-001 could potentially be priced at a premium.
- Action. We reiterate our Buy rating and $19 target price based on our peer comparable, cash driven NPV and forward price/sales analyses. Our recommendation is based on potential success of the METO IN-003 study and the positive commercial outlook of EVK-001 in gastroparesis treatment.

Major Risks

Failures of upcoming clinical studies Although EVK-001 has demonstrated promising efficacy and a satisfactory safety profile from prior Phase II studies in diabetic gastroparesis; there is no assurance that the upcoming Phase III clinical study can demonstrate efficacy and safety profiles satisfactory enough for gaining clinical approval. Given the clinical study successes are the biggest near-term hurdle to be overcome before EVK-001 can be advanced into commercialization, clinical study failure could significantly impair the value of the company's assets and shareholder value. Overall, we view clinical risks of EVK-001 are more modest relative to Phase III studies of other biotech companies.

EVK-001 may not reach anticipated sales. Assuming EVK-001 receives approval and is commercialized, the sales potential could fall short of our forecasts. It is difficult to project accurately the sales potential of EVK-001 in gastroparesis given that the market is relatively mature and is dominated by generic products. The assumption is that EVK-001 could afford more effective drug availability and bypass the hurdle of slow gastric emptying and vomiting. However, the actual clinical performance from the Phase III study could influence physician acceptance for the drug as well as the company's flexibility to price the drug. The lack of a large size comparative clinical study for EVK-001 vs. oral metoclopramide with a superior outcome could also slow down the initial market penetration.

Lack of diversified product portfolio increases risk if EVK-100 fails. Since Evoke only has only one product in development and without other prospects on their pipeline, EVOK has very limited options to hedge its risk of product failure. As such, any mishap or failure of EVK-001 development could significantly reduce the value of EVOK shareholders.

Additional financing could dilute shareholder value. Regardless of whether or not the company forges additional collaborations with partners to generate non-dilutive revenue to support operations, it is likely that Evoke may need to raise additional cash from investors to fund its operations, especially if the company needs to commercialize EVK-001 by themselves. As such, the share value for existing investors could be diluted. Further, if the company cannot raise equity capital at favorable terms, the share value of current shareholders could be further impaired.

Limited trading liquidity limits shareholder options. Daily trading volume and name recognition of EVOK shares are relatively modest. Some investors may be hesitant to own the shares due to illiquid trading volume. This could impose constraints if they want to increase or reduce their positions in a volatile stock market.

ANALYST CERTIFICATION

The analyst responsible for the content of this report hereby certifies that the views expressed regarding the company or companies and their securities accurately represent his personal views and that no direct or indirect compensation is to be received by the analyst for any specific recommendation or views contained in this report. Neither the author of this report nor any member of his immediate family or household maintains a position in the securities mentioned in this report.

EQUITY DISCLOSURES

For the purpose of ratings distributions, regulatory rules require the firm to assign ratings to one of three rating categories (i.e. Strong Buy/Buy-Overweight, Hold, or Underweight/Sell) regardless of a firm's own rating categories. Although the firm's ratings of Buy/Overweight, Hold, or Underweight/Sell most closely correspond to Buy, Hold and Sell, respectively, the meanings are not the same because our ratings are determined on a relative basis against the analyst sector universe of stocks. An analyst's coverage sector is comprised of companies that are engaged in similar business or share similar operating characteristics as the subject company. The analysis sector universe is a sub-sector to the analyst's coverage sector, and is compiled to assist the analyst in determining relative valuations of subject companies. The composition of an analyst's sector universe is subject to change over time as various factors, including changing market conditions occur. Accordingly, the rating assigned to a particular stock represents solely the analyst's view of how that stock will perform over the next 12-months relative to the analyst's sector universe.
